

Spring into Heritage

On Friday, 13 September, MUT fused two events into one: the spring day celebration and the heritage day celebration in honour of Heritage month. With xenophobia having dominated our national discourse and the media over the past few months; it was essential that the University takes a stand and raise awareness of our diversity, celebrate our heritage and promote tolerance of our diversity.

Traditional attire, traditional food, traditional dancers and traditional games all set the tone for the Spring into Heritage event. Every organisation values employee team work and when employees are friendly towards one another, that contributes to productivity. It was interesting to see some of the Indian colleagues eating African cuisine and some African colleagues participating in belly dancing.
